Kolodziej: HHS policies deficient

BY LIZ HAAS

John Kolodziej, volunteer physics instructor at Hancock High School, told school board members Tuesday the present exam exemption policy encourages mediocrity.

The policy, geared to improve school attendance, states students in grades 7 to 12 may be exempt from any examination in a class where they have at least a C grade point average, no more than two days absences prior to the day of the exam and a mastery of 90 percent of basic course skill requirements.

The policy, approved by the school board, has been in effect for two years.

Sverdrup adopted the school four years ago and company employees teach the physics class.

"I'm completely against the exemption policy," he said.

Old welfare building to house youth center

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Hancock County Concerned Citizens Association announced plans Tuesday for the renovation of the former county welfare building into a youth center.

Representatives of the association, and in particular Bay St. Louis resident Geraldine Lang, advocated use of the Nease Avenue building for the benefit of all Hancock youth.

During Monday's board of supervisors meeting, Lang requested use of the building for the establishment of a center. Board members instructed Chancery Clerk Michael Nease to walk through the deteriorated building with Lang and determine available space.

The county continues to store certain items at the facility.

Mixed opinions voiced on casino's parking lot

BY LIZ HAAS

Citizens disagreed on Bayou Caddy Casino's proposal to fill wetlands at a Monday night public hearing.

The corporation proposes filling two acres of wetlands and 70 feet of a tidal mosquito ditch for a casino parking lot at Bayou Caddy.

About 50 people attended the 7 p.m. hearing, sponsored by Bureau of Marine Resources at the county courthouse.

The plan also includes the relocation of a portion of Beach Boulevard to Freeman Road, abandonment of a portion of Shipyard Road, a centralized trash collection area and a 10-foot drainage swale around the perimeter of the parking area.

George Baxter of Bayou Caddy said, "We looked at alternative sites for a parking lot and the closest feasible site is two to three miles away and would cause problems transporting people to and from the casino."

He said they also looked at building a high-rise parking garage, but the expensive would be large.

"We've tried to follow all the guidelines required by state and federal agencies and are prepared to do whatever is necessary to use this land," he said.

Susan Fischer, a local resident, is opposed to the filling of the wetlands for environmental reasons.

"The muck that sits under cars in parking lots gets rained on and runs into the water and pollutes it," she said.

"You can't create new wetlands, you can only save what you've got," she said.

Roy Dedeaux of Gulfport said he has been involved in wetlands for years.

"The area needs economic growth," he said. "The land's valuable for other uses."

Bill Eslick, Bay St. Louis, said if we allow this, there won't be a future for other generations.

"This project does not have a greater interest than the public as a whole," he said.

Gwen Impson, property owner on Lakeshore Avenue, said, "I don't think that what we're hearing tonight is reflective of their entire plan."

She said state agencies have a responsibility to look at the entire project and the long-term effects.

Sports book awaits legislative action

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Enactment of legalized sports betting does not appear to be in the immediate future, Bay St. Louis gaming attorney Donald Rafferty reported Tuesday.

He stated, "One statute does allow it in the discretion of the executive director (Lorenzo Creighton). Section 89 of the Gaming Control Act.

"However, there is another section that refers to the criteria to be used in sports betting, but it refers to another section, and there is no criteria in there.

"Therefore, until the legislature does something, his (Creighton's) position is, 'we're not going to allow for sports bets.' In addition to that, he also says there is another statute that says you can't do anything for any type of gaming off premises, and until they correct those two things they are not going to allow the sports bet."

Rafferty added, "It would take an amending of the statute by the Gaming Control Act by the legislature. Frankly, it doesn't appear it can be done by this year."

RECYCLING

The city council approved authorization to advertise for recycling bins.

The council also approved an amendment to the Gulf Coast Recycling contract, reducing the original contract time to five months.

Barking dogs put Waveland noise ordinance to the test

BY LIZ HAAS

Marilyn Kneale addressed the Waveland Board of Aldermen in a Tuesday meeting on a letter they sent requesting her to take action on complaints about the excessive barking of her dogs.

The board heard complaints from a neighbor, Gloria Hayden, at the previous meeting about excessive barking from three dogs at Kneale's house on Sears Avenue.

A city ordinance prohibits excessive noise from animals between 10 p.m. and 7 a.m.

Kneale told the board that she put up a $1,000, six-foot fence and keeps her dogs inside as much as possible, but her neighbor still complains.

"I will put up hedges and another fence when it is affordable for me," said Kneale.

Kneale had letters signed by all of her neighbors in the general vicinity stating they did not have a problem with her dogs.

"I was robbed before and lost a lot of precious things, so I got the dogs for my protection and for the protection of my belongings," she said.

Hayden previously signed an affidavit, which was the only measure she could take to put the ordinance into effect, and the matter will go to court today.

ST. VINCENT DE PAUL

Mayor Stella Frilot, who was not present, wrote a letter to the board in reference to the City Hall Annex Building used by the St. Vincent de Paul Society.

The board previously imposed a $25 charge per month in order to comply with the state law requirements. The city has since found that the charge is insufficient to cover the city's cost in making the space available.

Frilot suggested the city charge 10 percent of the gross revenues generated by the use of the building or $25 per month, whichever is greater. She also said it should be required that the tenant provide evidence of liability insurance, which they have not done.

She recommended St. Vincent de Paul Society be granted the use of space.

There was discussion on whether the society could be covered on the city's policy. Board attorney, Lucien Gex, was authorized to check the city's policy to see if they could be covered.

The board approved to allow St. Vincent de Paul Society the use of the building with the stipulation that they must present the board with proof of some liability insurance, whether it be the city's or their own.

The board approved:

Mayor Edward Favre stated, due to the need to advertise and purchase the recycling bins from the lowest bidder, the time to begin educational meetings and curbside pickups will begin one month later than planned.

Council members were told upon initiation of services April 1, Gulf Coast Recycling will provide the city with information concerning tonnage, thereby permitting the city a means to measure saving in landfill disposal.

CSX DEPOT

City attorney John Scafide reported material costs for the construction of the CSX Transportation replacement building may exceed former estimates.

He reported, "I spoke to the contractor who is doing our cost estimate. He is still waiting on three bids on some of the items involved in the replacement facility...and he felt they should be in by the end of this week."

"The estimate of the cost of the replacement facility...there are some kind of expensive items in there. The limestone required to build up the base around the parking area (651 yards of limestone at $22 a yard) is $14,000—just for the limestone.

"And another 600 and some yards of clay at about $5 or $6 a yard, so that's about another $4,000...$18,000 just for clay and limestone."

"So this may run higher than the costs estimate."

The city is negotiating an a replacement building offer for CSX in exchange for the depot property.

CITY HALL RENOVATION

Approval was given for payments totaling $16,799 for work completed on the new city hall building.

Municipal clerk Kay Johnson stated only minor work painting and refinishing needs remain to be completed.

City purchasing agent Gordon Boh received a round of applause from council and audience members for his coordination efforts in a timely completion of the former Federal Savings Bank building.

Favre said Boh and crews worked nearly around the clock this past weekend to assure all would be ready in time for Tuesday's meeting.

OTHER BUSINESS

In other business the council approved final payment of $4,156 to Buckhurst, Hutton, Katz and Fish for work completed under contract for previous gaming and zoning studies.

The council placed under advisement drug testing policy changes required by the federal government concerning gas employees.

Approval was given in support of state legislation by which home insurance carriers will be required to give percentage reductions to those residents who take fire and burglary precautions.

Homes will be inspected by certified local law enforcement officers and a police record check will be run to verify moral character prior to assignment of a rate approval.

Bay St. Louis resident Frany a Ethridge was told by council members that no one has been recently approached concerning development of a gaming facility in or near the Cedar Point area.

Kolodziej

Kolodziej explained each course has a core requirement that must be mastered by 90 percent to meet the minimum requirements.

He said the state core requirements in physics make up, at best, 80 percent of the material that is presented. Students must pass 90 percent of that, which is 72 percent. The passing grade of the core requirements is 70 percent, which is not even 50 percent.

"You're saying that students have satisfactorily mastered the core requirements when they get one out of two right...when they're wrong half of the time," he said.

Kolodziej said the standards are extremely low, and if these are the standards the board sets, that is what most of the students will reach.

"In order to meet the central core of providing the best instruction possible, you need to look at plans, policies and procedures and see if they are working to improve the educational process," he said.

"We have a whole realm of these things going on in the school, including such things as having teachers approve the absences of their students, which is an administrative job," said Kolodziej.

"You need outside people to come in and need to take advantage of all the talent in the community we have," he said.

"We want our standards to be high and they are," said Hancock County School District superintendent Myrna Bourgeois.

"Our standard achievement scores are our measure of outcomes and we have seen a great improvement. Our ACT scores are now higher than ever," she said.

Kolodziej said ACT scores have gone up, but they are still very low and attendance has improved, but that hasn't improved the performance of the students in the classroom.

"I, too, felt the C was mediocre and objected to it when it was presented, but the board explained it was not academics they were looking at. We needed to improve attendance and get them to school so they could learn. We've done that because attendance has gone up," she said.

"Getting someone in the classroom who sits there and doesn't learn, can't accomplish anything except increase your Average Daily Attendance(ADA)," he said.

"The A student is the one who will likely go to college," said Kolodziej. "I taught college and we gave comprehensive exams with no exemptions. I feel you're doing a great disservice to students," he said.

He said students could go through Hancock junior high and high school and never take a single exam, which does not prepare them for the future higher educational level.

"You need to make the major thrust of policies and procedures a first rate education," he said.

Board members expressed disapproval of Kolodziej's method of going through the local media before bringing the matter through the correct school channels.

"I tried to go through the normal school channels and was met with courtesy and rudeness, and decided that was not the forum in which I would get anything accomplished," he said.

Lennette Nécaise, board president, invited Kolodziej to serve on any of their committees. During the summer, the board and their committees go through the policies and re-work them.

Youth center

Lang, Felecia Craft and Earlean Washington reported Tuesday their organization reached a verbal agreement with Neceise to lease the building for a nominal fee.

The women stated the building would be cleaned, painted and furnished to accommodate various youth-related programs and activities.

They added they would welcome all groups and individuals interested in assisting, for though this has been a longtime discussed need, the reality of the work and commitment necessary for success was now at hand.

Upon completion of lease contract with the county, work will commence.

The association is soliciting supplies and helping hands to make the building into a facility where an alternative to life's non-productive pathways will be offered.

"We want it made clear," Washington emphasized, "that this will be a facility where all Hancock County children are welcome...Race, religion, political standing, make no difference. This will be a center for all our children."

To assist in the first steps of renovation work contact Lang, at 467-9586; Craft, at 467-7773 (office) or 466-2872 (home); or Washington, at 467-1737.

"QUOTEABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

The Super Bowl game on Sunday evening was probably viewed by the most television viewers ever to see a sports event.

I thought Dallas would win the game, but only by a few points.

The game was a big disappointment to many, as the score at the end of the game was so lopsided in favor of Dallas.

Reports say there was dancing in the streets of Dallas Sunday night, meanwhile things were calm in Buffalo.

Buffalo cannot seem to get enough push to take the Super Bowl; three years in a row they have been the AFC champs.

Buffalo appears to be a repeat of the New Orleans Saints, only on a higher level. The Saints cannot win a play-off game.

We still have the Pro Bowl to look forward to, and then football will take back seat to basketball and baseball.

With modern communications there are always some type of sporting activities to be viewed.

I guess Buffalo and the Saints are both saying, wait until next year.

I can remember the sign of Ramsey's on Beach Boulevard for most of my life, and I sure hated to see it come down last week.

Doc' Ramsey's store was a landmark for over 50 years in Bay St. Louis.

Doc' has now retired, and I sure miss seeing him at Rotary or in front of his store or dental office.

It is always good to be remembered, and I am sure Doc' Ramsey's store and office will be remembered for many years to come.

Mardi Gras is a word familiar to those of us who have been around the area for a few years, or a long time.

I realize we have a large number of recent residents to the area due to gaming, and some of them may be in for a big surprise by what Mardi Gras brings.

Mardi Gras parades have been popular in the Bay St. Louis area before the turn of the century, as I have read accounts of them in our archives.

One of the reasons for the popularity of Mardi Gras is the long close association with the City of New Orleans.

This was made possible by the Louisville and Nashville Railroad, which made it easy to travel between the big and small city.

So many of the earlier residents of Bay St. Louis and Waveland held ties with New Orleans. Many moved to the area for retirement or were frequent vacation visitors.

While on the subject of Mardi Gras, the season is here and parades are getting ready to roll.

Things get started on Friday, Feb. 13 with the Krewe of Kids in the Cedar Point Area of Bay St. Louis.

This is a parade for the younger residents, no motorized vehicles are allowed, and it begins at 1 p.m.

Taylor receives new assignments

U.S. Rep. Gene Taylor was recently selected to sit on the Merchant Marine and Fisheries Subcommittee on Fisheries and the Armed Services newly formed Subcommittee on Military Acquisition.

The subcommittee's jurisdiction includes all matters pertaining to sport, commercial, domestic, and international fishing. Furthermore, the subcommittee has oversight in wildlife, research restoration, refuges and conservation matters.

The Military Acquisition Subcommittee was designed to include jurisdiction from an Armed Services subcommittee that was cut in January when the House passed new rules to force major committees to have no more than six subcommittees.

Taylor retains his seat on the Armed Services' Military Installations Subcommittee, which oversees military construction projects, and Merchant Marine's Coast Guard and Merchant Marine Subcommittees.

Heavy task

Several Bay St. Louis workers were busy last Saturday making the move from City Hall to the City Hall Annex on Court Street. Comments heard were that anything heavy went upstairs. Residents can now use a drive through at the annex to pay utility bills and realted city activities. The annex, formerly Peoples Federal Savings Bank's headquarters, was purchased from the RTC by Bay St. Louis. (Echo staff photo by Ellis Cuevas)

FROM THE GOVERNOR'S OFFICE

By Governor Kirk Fordice

Office of Inspector General: Keeping an "I" an government

A Typical Day in Mississippi State Government

BY KIRK FORDICE

—41 state-owned vehicles in one agency alone were being used by "special" employees for trips to and from work, to the grocery store and to go on weekend vacations.

—16 people in one state agency were being paid $566,000 a year in salaries directly from the budgets of other needy state agencies.

—Over $500,000 a year was being wasted by the arbitrary selection process the state used to choose its bond counsel—a legal process, but entirely unethical and inefficient.

—$4.5 million of federal grant money was on the verge of being lost by the state because officials didn't know when the federal deadline for expenditure of funds would take effect.

Personal use of state vehicles, misappropriation of state and federal funds, empire-building, favoritism and widespread waste and government bloat are just a few examples of what seem to be common practice here in Jackson.

All of these examples were fortunately corrected. However, these are just a few examples of duplication, waste and fraud in Mississippi State government that we happened to catch after I took office.

What about the hundreds of other incidences that occur every day in this $6-billion, 28,000-person bureaucratic monster we call government?

It is for these unchecked practices that go on day-to-day that I am asking the Mississippi Legislature to support me in the establishment of Mississippi's first-ever Office of Inspector General.

My reason for wanting to create the Office of Inspector General is simple. To quote the Clinton Administration's favorite line of late: "The problem is much worse than we had originally anticipated." That problem is the problem of government inefficiency in the State of Mississippi.

They say that leaders will be remembered in history with only one sentence—I am working to see that our sentence reflects two goals—that we put more Mississippians to work in the private sector than ever before, and that we streamline government and ran it like a successful business.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Catholic schools don't have room for everyone

Dear Editor,

Once again the Catholic Diocese of Biloxi is celebrating Catholic School Week, and once again the parents of school-age children across the Coast will be subjected to the subtle demands placed on them by their priests to sacrifice where necessary in order to afford the skyrocketing tuitions of the Catholic schools.

There's just one problem.

Unless you submitted your child's application last September, or have a family member on the faculty, the chances of getting your child into the kindergarten class at Bay Catholic Elementary are slim to none. At least that was the case last year.

The problem—there was no written priority list or guideline for the school board to follow as to who was admitted and who was turned away.

Apparently it was decided by the principal, Miss Allen, that it was okay to admit the 4-year-old preschoolers, regardless of their religious affiliation or parish association. This decision was backed by our own Bishop Howze.

It was also okay to turn down my son, who has been a member of Our Lady of the Gulf Parish since his baptism there in 1987. It didn't seem to matter that my husband and I were married at OLG, our children were baptized there, we contribute money every Sunday, we work the Crab Festival, one of the school's largest fund-raisers every year, or that I have taught Vacation Bible School on a volunteer basis.

Nor did it matter that our pastor, Fr. Mockler, insisted that my son be admitted. (My son is very happy at St. Paul's in Pass Christian.)

So if you feel pressured into sending your child to a Catholic school, but aren't sure if you can afford it, cheer up. Maybe they won't want your child either.

Hospital, doctors commended for professional treatment

Dear Editor:

I would like to take the time to write this letter to the people of Hancock County.

I just moved back to this area after being away for better than 15 years. I had been here just three weeks when I had an accident which resulted in a broken finger and knuckle. It wasn't just an "ordinary" break, but a pretty bad one.

I reluctantly went to Hancock Medical Center to receive treatment. Let me tell you something, the people of Hancock County have a hospital they can be very proud of.

Dr. Tomas Flores, orthopedic

surgeon, and Dr. Dale Loiacono, anesthesiologist, have to be the best. The nursing staff, too many to name, are above reproach. They made me feel very comfortable in a time of need and not only that, I knew without a doubt that I would come out of this completely healed. The professionalism and sincerity these people show is remarkable.

I am completely healed now and would like to thank the staff of Hancock Medical Center from the bottom of my heart.

Thank you, Rick Hill Waveland.

Reader resents casino's winners being published

Dear Editor:

It is unconscionable for you to publish, as news, the names of people who have "won big" at Casino Magic (see "Casino Magic winners named," the Echo, Jan. 21).

Doing so is giving free advertising to an industry which scarcely needs it. It would serve the community better to publish accounts of big losses. Why not do an in-depth article on the economics of running a casino instead—where the money comes from, where it goes, and what the profit margin is?

Sincerely, Florence Fetterer — Bay St. Louis

Red Cross needs your help at blood drawing

Dear Editor:

The American Red Cross Mobile Unit will be at the American Legion Home, Post 139, Bay St. Louis, Wednesday, Feb. 10 from 1 to 7 p.m. The quota for the blood drawing is 100 units.

Will you please assist by requesting your members and employees, members of their families and friends who are physically able and 17 years old or older to come in Wednesday and donate a unit of blood.

Please read this at your next meeting, post on your bulletin board, or publish it in any bulletins before the blood drawing and make a personal appeal for this particular drawing.

You assistance in any way to make this a successful and productive drawing will not only be appreciated, but is essential to those who will need this blood.

Sincerely, John D. Rutherford Jr. Chairman

Wilkerson seeks re-election to Ward 4 council seat

Ward Four Councilman John Wilkerson announced he will seek re-election to the position he has held for two terms.

He is married to the former Lucille Werling and they have three children and four grandchildren. They have been residents of Bay St. Louis for 34 years and their children were all educated here.

He is an engineering planner with Rockwell International at Stennis Space Center, where he has been employed for 13 years.

In 1989 he won a national award as Rockwell's Good citizen of the Year. He has been active in community service, church, school, veterans affairs, and other organizations for many years.

"I am very proud of the accomplishments of the City Council. I feel my record speaks for itself. I have voted my convictions and the will of my constituents.

"I have one statement that I live by, 'I have to look at myself in the mirror every morning when I shave. I can do this and know I have done my very best and I have nothing to be ashamed of,'" said Wilkerson.

"Among things the council has done for Bay St. Louis are reduction of utility rates, Civil Service for city employees, reduction in real estate taxes and car tags.

"Recycling is one of our goals and we are well on the way to making it a reality, and the new fire rating has lowered the insurance rates of many residents.

"Our downtown area is thriv-

ing and the community in general is cleaner and better kept than it has ever been. I am working to help give you the very best streets, drainage, police and fire protection.

"If re-elected I promise to bring the same dedication to the position that I have shown in the past. I will do what is best for the majority of the people, and I will dedicate myself to the people I serve and the job I hold."

Mistrial declared on fondling case

Jurors unable to reach a verdict caused the trial of a Bay St. Louis man charged with fondling a 12-year-old girl to be declared a mistrial.

The girl accused Buford Keith Christmas of Easterbook Street of fondling her in June 1989.

The girl testified she did not report the acts until two years later, claiming the accused had threatened to harm her should she do so.

Christmas was indicted in July 1992.

already pulling out the microscope.

Some have made political charges that the existence of an Office of Inspector General is a duplication of the State Auditor's Office—anyone that truly knows this government knows this opinion is unfounded. The Mississippi State Auditor is responsible for just that—audits. Hundreds of financial audits of schools and other state agencies are that office's main responsibility—not government watchdogging, and not political grandstanding.

I took this job to tell the truth to the people of Mississippi, not to make political friends. That is why I say that if it is, indeed, the State Auditor's job to watchdog state government too, then the job is simply not getting done.

The State Auditor's Office is not funded or equipped to handle the caseload of the Office of Inspector General. The Office of Inspector General is the only government entity that can receive and act upon reports of government misconduct from State employees and State citizens, and take those reports all the way from first complaint through actual prosecution—and the I.G. can even investigate the governor if a complaint is registered against his office.

To show our commitment to the I.G.'s office to the Legislature, we have secured federal grant money to fund the first 6 months of this office's operation, and we are asking the Legislature for an appropriate amount of $250,000 for a six-person office.

Economic development head Jimmy Heidel has been my right-hand man in helping me fulfill the first goal. Now, I have called upon Gerald Gafford, a former military inspector general from Oxford, in helping me fulfill the second goal.

Tips On Writing EFFECTIVE Classified Ads

► STICK TO THE FACTS

Prospective buyers need to know details, like the condition of the item for sale, the size, brand name, color and any other relevant information that would help them make a decision.

► BE HONEST

Aside from being unethical, exaggerating or misinforming potential buyers won't help you make a sale, and may only serve to lose a prospective buyers' trust. Even if they come to look at what you have to sell, they'll be less likely to buy the item or trust you once they see they've been misled.

► SPELL IT OUT

Abbreviations are not easily understood by many people and may even confuse a reader. It only takes them a second to pass over an ad because it doesn't seem clear, why let it be yours because you abbreviated a description?

► THE BOTTOM LINE

State the price. You'll save yourself the hassle of having to answer calls from prospects who, upon learning the price, are not really interested. Price is the first thing they'll look for when reading your ad, and when prospects know the price, you'll know you have a serious buyer on the line.

► BE THERE

List the best hours to call and make sure you're at home. If you don't list a specific time, you could be flooded with calls any time of the day or night. And when you're not at home to take calls, most likely, they won't call back.

► ASK US

If you aren't sure how to word your ad or what features to include, why not ask us? Our professionals on staff know how to create an effective ad that sells, they're always willing to help, and there's no charge!

IN AND AROUND DIAMONDHEAD

By Margaret Williamson

QUEEN'S FLAG FLOWN

The students and faculty at Diamondhead Academy bid farewell to two students Thursday, Jan. 28 in an unusual way.

Lloyd and Alexander Nail, sons of Lt. Cmdr. Vaughn Nail with the British Royal Navy, and his wife, Claire, have attended the Academy for 2½ years. The boys and their parents returned home to England.

Cmdr. Nail was working with the naval facility at Stennis. At the morning flag ceremony, the British flag was flown, and everyone sang the British National Anthem.

MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

The Diamondhead Art Guild needs new members. The present members need to come out and support some of the exciting plans being developed for the rest of this new year '93.

The Krewe of Diamondhead parade theme is "The Circus." Skip Alfonso, president, needs riders and decorators for the Art Guild's entry in the parade. The deadline for your entry fee of $5 per person (covers some of the cost of materials) is Feb. 10. Please call Skip at 255-7199 for details.

BUSINESS LEADERS

On Thursday, Jan. 28 the Diamondhead Business and Professional Organization elected new officers and directors at their monthly meeting.

New officers are Jon Ritten with Coast Delta Realty, president; Rick Fair, owner of Sports Locker, vice-president; Mary Kipping, owner of Corporate Cheer, secretary; and Mary Emery, Hancock Bank, treasurer.

New directors are Pat Wild, Kathy Bradford, Gary Wiley and Russell Love. These leaders are committed in pooling their resources to revitalize their position in helping the community grow for the benefit of everyone. We wish them much success in their endeavors.

AARP

At their meeting Tuesday, Feb. 2, the members of the Diamondhead AARP had as their guest speaker Don Henderson, administrator of Hancock Medical Center. He gave a very interesting presentation on the new Diagnostic Medical Center we will have here in Diamondhead behind St. Thomas Episcopal Church. The groundbreaking and development will be starting soon upon obtaining a commitment from the general practice physician who will be in charge.

Joe Finley gave a talk on the present legislative issues regarding senior citizens, etc.

All in attendance were encouraged to learn more about and support health care reforms legislation. 55-Alive classes start next week.

SUPPORT GROUP

Mrs. Joel Bourgeois, a resident of Diamondhead is forming a Diabetics Support Group. If you, a loved one, a family member, a friend and neighbor are a diabetic and needs help and information, call Joel at 255-9308.

ROYALTY ENTERTAINED

Margaret's Float Krewe of the Krewe of Diamondhead last evening entertained King Paul Sneyer and his wife Janet with a progressive dinner. The hosts and the rest of the group hope it will become a tradition.

The home of David and Virginia Ludwig was the setting for cocktails, Chris and Margaret Arnos were hosts for dinner, after which the group traveled to Bill and Linda Eckert's for dessert. Unfortunately Queen Gisela Rainey was ill, so she and her husband Harold could not attend.

Mardi Gras is right around the corner, and Diamondhead is ready for it. Don't forget the parade on Saturday, Feb. 20 at 2 p.m. starting at the Community Center.

ACADEMY HAPPENINGS

I was fortunate to be in the audience at the Diamondhead Community Center Friday, Jan. 29 for Diamondhead Academy's talent show. To name a few of the participants who provided us with most enjoyable entertainment were Erin Bourg, doing a fine keyboard medley, the precious Peekham sisters singing their song, Kasha Moore doing a great tumbling routine, Josh Shiyou and his magic, and Matthew Clough with such a nice way of singing "Pretty Woman." Bravo to all of the performers.

CORDOVA HONORED

Congratulations to Luis Cordova "our own" professional photographer here in Diamondhead. Luis has captured two awards from Professional Photographers of America Inc. for his entries in the 1993 Mr. and Mrs. PPA Photogenic contest.

His portraits of David Legros and Heather Wakefield were both chosen as the finalists of the state. Luis specializes in weddings, outdoor environmental portraits, model portfolios, interiors and products.

St. Stanislaus clinches district championship

The St. Stanislaus soccer team claimed its second straight district title by defeating Bay High 4-1 in its final game of the season.

The Rocks ended the season with a 9-1 district record edging out Long Beach by the tie breaker of head-to-head competition.

The Rocks also were able to extend their overall record to 21 wins and four losses and one tie.

SSC started the scoring off with Konstantine Koloskov scoring from the outside with a bending shot into the right corner of the goal.

Bay High came back to tie the score when Joe Dobson scored a goal.

The half was about to end when Koloskov made a perfect pass to Charles Oliver who spotted Stanley Chapman open and got him the ball. Chapman finished it off with a rocket into the net. The half ended SSC-2, Bay High-1.

The Rock-A-Chaws continued the pressure in the second half with Koloskov scoring his second goal of the game coming on an open shot on goal when Koloskov maneuvered the ball away from the keeper thus setting up the goal.

Beau Schindler got the final goal of the night.

St. Stanislaus will host either Biloxi or Pascagoula at the Rocks' stadium at 2 p.m. Saturday to begin the first round of the state playoffs. The semi-finals and finals are in Jackson on Friday and Saturday, Feb. 12 and 13.

Quinlan, LaFontaine, Rutherford on PRC baseball roster for '93

Jim Nightengale will have a lot of new faces on his 1993 Pearl River Community College baseball team.

After four straight post-season appearances, the PRC Wildcats posted a 20-25 record a year ago. It was the first losing season for the Wildcats in 12 years.

Nightengale said he was starting over and obviously he meant business. The 1992 Wildcats had 11 sophomores on the roster. The 1993 unit has only two.

"After many unexpected victories in the early going, we couldn't put together the chemistry to win the crucial division games," said Nightengale, who has a 123-88 record during his five years.

Infelder Stewart Huey of Picayune and outfielder Jonathan Ray of Poplarville are the only sophomores on the squad.

"We're young and inexperienced, but I like the way we hustle and the way we practice," said Nightengale. "We knocked on the championship door four straight years and never broke it down. This year we just may slip through the crack."

Freshman district players include: Dominic Jordan, Ray Davis, and Donnie Stringfellow of Poplarville; Jason Milsap of Hattiesburg; Mickey Quinlan of Waveland, Terrell LaFontaine and Johnny Rutherford of Bay St. Louis; Eddie Lofton and Casey Can of Oak Grove; Shadrack Rodgers of Lumberton, Carlos Aristi of Picayune and Chip Creel of Petal.

PRC's first game is set for Saturday, Feb. 20, at Pensacola, Fla. The first home game is scheduled against Bishop State at 1 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 23.

All the Wildcats' home games will be doubleheaders and several will be twilight doubleheaders. Three home doubleheaders are set for Saturdays.

FISHIN' Y'ALL

By Jim Maness

Clear weather means clearer water for fishing

It's time to go fishin' y'all.

Hey man, what's that bright ball in the sky? It must be some form of unusual visitor from outer space. I heard stories from the older generations that there was an object in the sky, very similar to this one that they called a Sun. I wonder if this could be the same thing as the "Sun object" that the old-timers talked about?

It is hard to believe that we have had several days without rain. I guess I better not say that too loudly as it might start again.

Anyway, the nice weather of the past few days has given the waters of the sound and the rivers a chance to normalize.

You can even see that there is sand on the bottom of the Gulf. The water is starting to clear up. Not great yet, but it is a start.

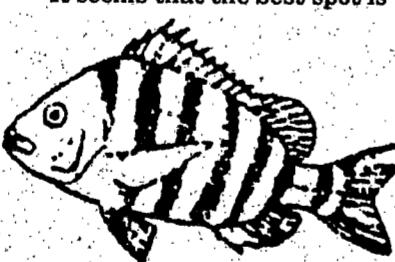

The first area to clear up has been around the Bay bridge. It gets a greater tidal flow from the deeper, clearer, saltier, Gulf waters in this area long before the area around Bayou Caddy and points west.

The clearer calm waters around the Bay bridge have allowed a few fishermen to venture out around the pilings of the bridge. They are catching a few nice drum and sheepshead (convict fish). While they have been getting a few bites around the concrete pilings, the best action seems to be by the wooden piling around the train bridge abutment for the turnstile. I think I am describing that correctly.

You know, that thing that turns on a central piling to open up the train bridge to let boats pass through the bridge. Whatever they call that thing, that is the spot to try for drum and sheepshead.

It seems that the best spot is on the Bay St. Louis side on an outgoing tide.

Try to tie your boat up about 25 feet from the main part of the bridge. Did I mention that you need a boat to fish here? Well you do, 'cause it's too deep to walk out here. In fact it is over your head. Back to the subject. The sheepshead and drum are being caught on the bottom using dead shrimp.

You might wanna' use a one-ounce sinker on your terminal tackle to keep your bait on the bottom close to the pilings. The current is sometimes strong enough to move a lighter sinker out to sea. If your sinker cannot keep your bait on the bottom, your chances are slim and none, that you will be able to catch any of the convict fish that hang around the bottom of the pilings.

And since you are gonna be fishin' around pilings... And since pilings have nasty things growing on them called barnacles... And since barnacles have a great liking for fishing line (they eat it)... I suggest that you might wanna consider using a steel leader about 24 inches long to fish by the pilings. Very few barnacle encrusted pilings have an appetite for steel leaders.

Now for the scientific information: the reason that you can catch those "convict" on the bottom in deep water is because saltwater is heavier than fresh water. Saltwater has an extra ingredient in it called NaCl or salt. This ingredient makes it heavier than fresh water, so the fresh water tends to form a layer on top of the salt water.

The layering effect of fresh water on top of salt water explains why a few specks were caught this past week in Bayou Caddy. A few folks tried slow trolling in the Bayou and they were able to catch a few specks.

The Bayou fishermen noticed that every time they would get around a deep hole they would get a strike, they would not get any strikes in water less than six feet deep. See that, you learned something new today. I gotta' make an appeal to anyone fishin' in and around Bayou Caddy. Please, please, if you catch a speck that is tagged, let BMR know at once. This study is real important if we are ever to have scientific management of our specks.

This week's wonderful wise words: You gotta keep learning all of the time or life will pass you by.

Whoever heard of a philosophical turtle, turtle?

Bourgeois seeks larger share of gaming profits

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Hancock County School District superintendent Myrna Bourgeois made no bones Monday about wanting a larger share of future gaming revenues.

Board members passed a resolution submitted by Bourgeois to include the school district in fee negotiations with all future casino developers.

Bourgeois stated, when the City of Bay St. Louis contracted for an annual gaming fee from Casino Magic, it neglected to specify funds for the Bay-Waveland School District.

She asked the board of supervisors to not repeat that oversight in relation to county schools.

Board members Alton "Dolph" Kellar (District 2) and Howard Lizana (District 3) questioned Bourgeois' involvement with the deluge of phone calls they claimed to have received over the weekend concerning gaming monies.

Bourgeois said an announcement was made at the schools Friday urging faculty members and students to call their supervisors and request additional gaming funds.

Though the schools will receive ad valorem taxes from the gaming industries, she said additional monies should be negotiated.

She commented Hancock County School District increased by 300 students this year. Many students, she claimed, were enrolled due to increased employment in both construction and operations at Casino Magic.

The board reported, at this time, no agreements have been made with county located casinos as to fees required for operation.

SAND BEACH

The board authorized re-advertisement for contract work on the Sand Beach Renourishment Project.

Project engineer Bill Mitchell reported both the Bureau of Marine Resources (BMR) and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers are reviewing an alternative sand source along the Hancock County shoreline.

Two weeks ago during investigative work for the laying of the planned pipeline from the Harrison County, Henderson Point sand bar location, quality sand was located between 2,100 and 1,700 feet from Hancock County shoreline.

Should the supply meet with BMR and Corps approval, the county stands to gain in a project cost reduction which can then be applied to increase the overall scope of work.

A concern for the proximity of the sand source to the shoreline was addressed twofold: one, three lines of warning signs will be placed to alert bathers of pending dangers of a drop off resulting from the removal of water bottoms; and the expenditure of extra monies for the reduction in slope as the bottoms are dredged.

Parking lot

"Why aren't we being made aware of all the effects?" she asked.

Delmer Wilcox, a Clermont Harbor resident of 50 years, said that there has been clutter and trash in the Bayou Caddy area for years.

"Other places have cleaned up their areas and built beautiful parking lots for the public to enjoy our water and beaches," he said.

He said that if it takes putting in a parking lot near the seawall to clean up the area, it needs to be done.

"I ask everyone to give it a good thought," he said. "Do we want to see it like it is, or beautify it so we can be proud of where we live?"

Dr. Bob Esher, representing Citizens for a Healthy Environment, said his organization is opposed to the destruction of any wetlands, but that in this case, with the proper restraints, the project could enhance the coastal environment with a reasonable mitigation plan to reestablish marsh.

Bruce Northridge, Waveland resident, believes mitigation is the key in this situation.

"We need a happy medium where the project could exist and the environment could be protected at the same time," he said.

Tommy Bordages, who owns about 200 acres of land in the area, told the public that their worries about the project are not justifiable.

"The high tide is not going to raise it, and as far as run off from the lot, the mosquito spraying sends thousands of gallons of diesel and pesticides over the marsh all the time. This project is not going to effect the ecosystem," he said.

"I think we really need some development down in this area," he said.

David Rupple, project manager for the proposal to the Bureau of Marine Resources, said, "The purpose of the hearing is to inform the public and be sure that the maximum of information is received so we can make a decision."

The records of the hearing will remain open until February 8, and additional written comments can be mailed to the Bureau of Marine Resources, 2620 Beach Boulevard, Biloxi, MS 39531 or brought to the Edgewater Mall office.

After that, the Bureau staff will evaluate the comments and application information and make a recommendation to the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks who will make a decision later in the month.

Comments can be made to the Army Corps of Engineers until Feb. 15, which is making a separate recommendation to the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks.

CONSUMER UPDATE

Earned income credit provides up to $2,211 for eligible families

Families that work full time, part time, or part of the year, and earned less than $22,370 in 1992, should be aware of Earned Income Credit (EIC) which may be available to them. In order to qualify, families must meet the income guidelines above plus have at least one child living with them.

Nearly 14 million families have already received Earned Income Credit. However, as EIC income limits rise or working parents are temporarily without a job due to layoffs, many families may be eligible for the first time this year.

1992 EIC benefits provide a maximum credit of $1,324 for families with one child. Families with two or more children may receive up to $1,384.

In addition, there are two "extra" EIC credits: one for families with a child born in 1992 (worth up to $376), and one for families that pay at least part of the premiums for a health insurance policy that covers a child (worth up to $451). Total possible benefits for the 1992 tax year are $2,211.

In order to receive the tax credit, families must file the appropriate tax form (Schedule EIC) with their federal income tax return. Last year, IRS adopted a flexible policy toward the filing of this form and awarded the credit to those families whose tax return indicated they qualified in spite of the omission of the appropriate forms.

This year, that policy has been rescinded and the Schedule EIC must be submitted in order to receive the credit.

Families who potentially qualify for the credit but fail to file the form will be notified of their eligibility but will not receive a check until Schedule EIC is completed and returned.

For families who have questions or need assistance in preparing tax forms, there are several sources of help available. Free help can be obtained from IRS operators during regular weekday business hours by calling 1-800-829-1040.

For a recorded message detailing the Earned Income Credit guidelines and form, the IRS "teletax" service can be reached 24 hours a day. To reach teletax, dial 1-800-829-4477.

To hear the message on EIC, request topic number 402. The IRS phone number for hearing impaired persons who have access to TDD equipment is 1-800-829-4059.

Another free tax help available is through the Volunteer Income Tax Assistance Program (VITA). This service provides free tax preparation assistance in various local sites throughout the nation.

For a listing of sites in your area, contact the IRS office nearest you or the Regional VITA coordinator for our area in Jackson 601-965-4142.

When going to a VITA site for assistance with Schedule EIC, be sure to have the following information on hand for your tax preparer:

*Copy of your 1991 tax return
*W-2 forms for all 1992 jobs

*1099-G (unemployment compensation)

*1099-INT (bank interest)

*Social Security numbers of all in household

*Name, address, and tax ID number of child care provider

*Amount paid to child care provider in 1992

*Amount of health insurance premiums for policy covering a child in 1992.

Cuevas Machine

Onetime cottage industry services companies across the United States

BY LIZ HAAS

Sixteen years ago Paul Cuevas made machine parts in the carport of his home with only a lathe and drill press.

Today Cuevas Machine, a precision machine work and fabrication company, services more than 20 companies in Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee and Louisiana. They also handle jobs overseas.

Cuevas, president, started the industry in 1977. By 1978 the fledgling company had outgrown the carport and moved to a small washateria.

He moved to a haybarn in 1981. Two years later Todd Smith, now vice president, became his partner.

"As the business grew, we grew with it," said Smith.

In 1989 they built the facility where they are now located on Highway 53. The company now has 18 employees.

The facility includes a 6,000 square foot machine shop and 4,000 square foot fabrication shop with a 20-foot working height. They can provide all of their non-destructive testing.

"Machine shops are hurting now, but the reason that we've been so busy is because we put out a quality product at a competitive price," said Smith.

"Quality is the answer in this business," he said.

Some of the industries they service are Dupont, Calgon, GE Plastics, Prime Manufacturing, Arnold Air Force Base, Naval Oceanographic and Best Equipment.

They ship products all over the United States.

The company's machine work and fabrication includes working with all types of exotic metals and plastics.

They have a large range of machine vending and are qualified to do government work through the quality control system.

The company has a four-year training program for their employees. The first year, the employees work and take night classes at Pearl River Community College.

companies."

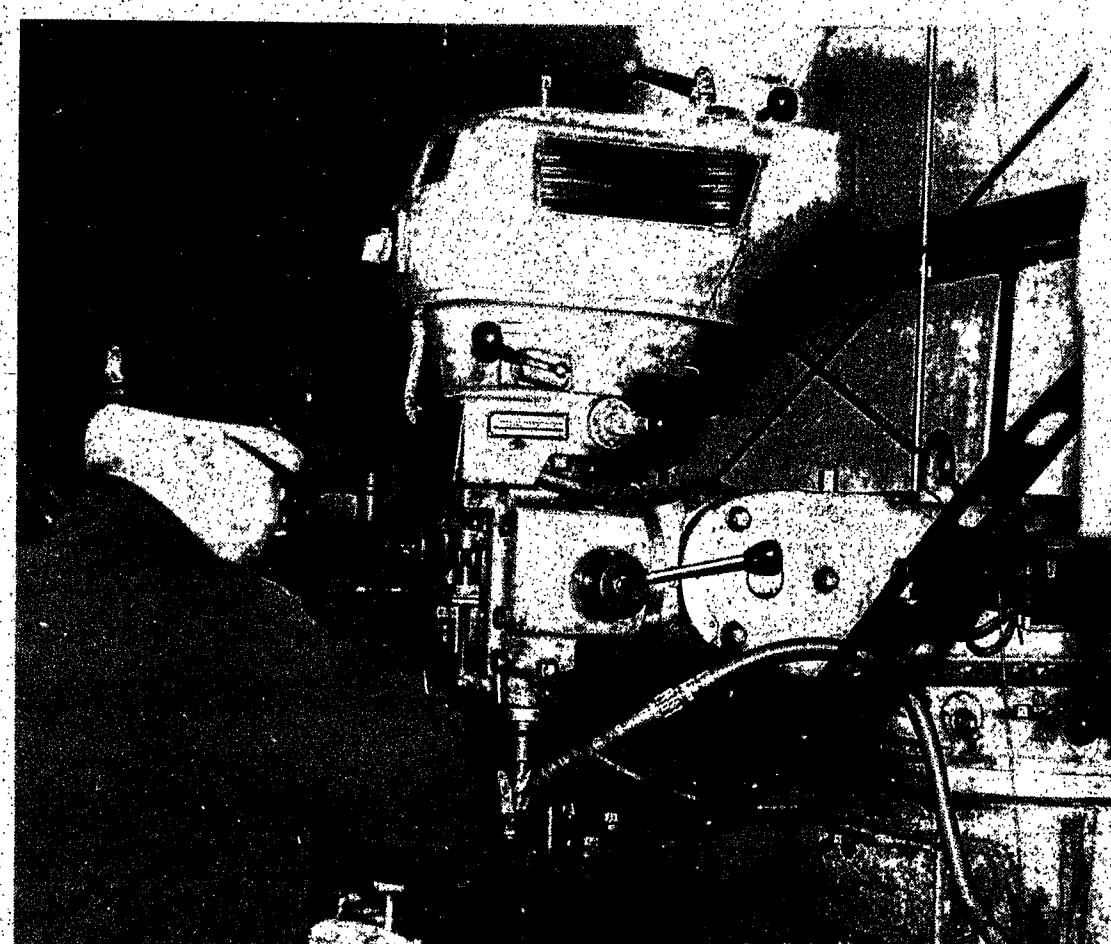

They deliver their smaller work and hire out an 18-wheeler for their big hauling.

When they hear about companies, they visit them and take their qualification sheets and quality control manuals to them.

"If we don't get work, then we visit them a few more times," said Smith. "We stress to try us and see what kind of work we can do."

"For the past three years, we've had a lot of work, very few slack periods," said Smith.

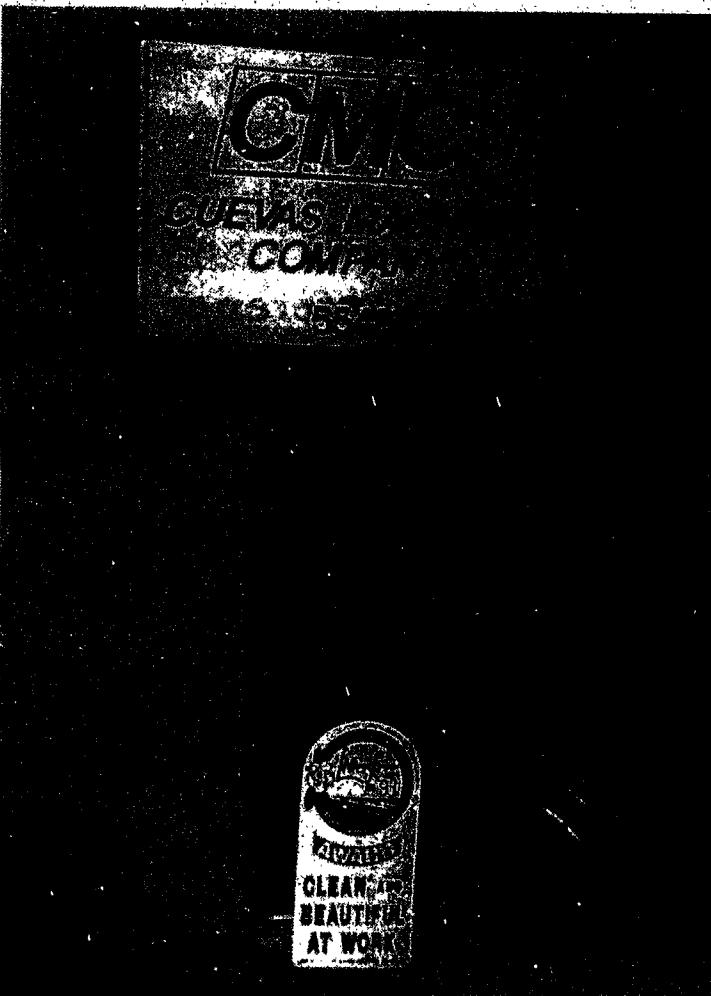

"We can base our success on quality work," he said.

Seedling 'giveaway' slated Feb. 11, 12

Mississippi's 19th Tree Planting Week will be Feb. 12-18, according to State Forester Jim Sledge Jr., chairman of the State Tree Planting and Forest Development Committee.

In recent years the annual week-long "Celebration of Trees" has been held beginning on Mississippi's Arbor Day (second Friday in February) and continuing the next week.

Mississippi's Tree Planting Week features special planting events at schools, on public parks and streets and on private residential sites.

Since 1975 nearly 16 million seedlings have been given away or provided to school children and adults at a nominal cost for planting during Tree Planting Week. Each year an average of 450 schools have taken part, with an average of 70,000 participating.

Tree Planting Week has been sponsored in virtually all 82 counties of the state since 1975 by the Mississippi Association of Conservation Districts and its Soil and Water Conservation Districts located in each county.

Mississippi's garden clubs, forest industries, county agents, state and federal forestry agencies and civic organizations annually pitch in to help with the events.

In Hancock County the Hancock County Soil & Water Conservation District and the Forestry Commission will be observing tree planting week with tree plantings at all the schools and area garden clubs.

A tree seedling "giveaway" will be Feb. 11 and 12 on the courthouse steps. This year, due to budget cuts, there will be a nominal fee of $25 per tree.

Species available will be Green Ash, Willow Oak, Sycamore, Bald Cypress, White Oak, Water Oak, Cherry Bark Oak, Sawtooth Oak, Chestnut Oak and Nuttal Oak.

A limited number of trees are available, so please come early to have a good selection.

Several Urban Forestry Grant programs are also available for community tree planting projects. (See your local forester for specifics.)

One unique tree planting project has already been scheduled as a significant adjunct to Tree Planting Week 1993.

The Mississippi Association of Family and Community Education (MAFCE) in cooperation with the Mississippi Forestry Commission, will plant a pair of trees for each couple getting married during 1993.

The overall project calls for the planting of over 50,000 pine trees on public land (16th Sections, city streets, school yards) by personnel of the Mississippi Forestry Commission.

The pine seedlings for the commemorative tree planting project were purchased by MAFCE, while 100 hardwood seedlings will be provided in each of 10 regions of the state by the Forestry Commission. The hardwoods will be planted on more urban sites such as streets and school grounds.

Each married couple will receive a MAFCE information kit advising them of the trees planted in their honor and urging them to begin a family tradition by planting trees for every child born to them.

Students asked to 'fix' schools

The Tylenol Cold, Cough and Sinus Brands Hot Ideas for Schools awards program offers fourth through 12th grade students the chance to recommend projects that will improve learning at their schools. And Tylenol Brands will fund three of those ideas.

Students are challenged to identify a need in their school, propose a project which will improve learning opportunities and costs not more than $10,000 to implement. They must describe the project in a 200-word essay.

Awards, to be announced in mid-June, will be presented in three categories: grades four through six, seven through nine, and 10 through 12. One top winner in each category will receive a $2,500 cash award, plus that student's school will receive a $10,000 grant to implement the idea.

Fifty-two runners-up in each category will earn a $1,000 cash prize and a $1,000 grant for the school.

Application forms are available until February 15 in retail stores where Tylenol products are sold. Completed applications must be postmarked by March 15, 1993.

Local schools to compete in math, science tournament

sissippi College, and participants can compete in both team and individual competition.

Individual competition includes one-hour written exams in math, biology, chemistry and physics with each student allowed to compete in two of the four areas.

Team competition is divided into two divisions depending on the curriculum offered in science and math by the individual schools.
